The Synod accepted the CRC's interim account

- of the process of the two-level – congregational and departmental – dialogue,
- then it supported the second committee proposal which was based on its evaluation.

The Synod decided that the CRC initiates consultation in the reported questions, involving experts and those who are concerned and in cooperation with the Synod Mission Committee (SMC).

Together with CRC members, the eight Working Groups of the so called „Mission Day” initiated earlier by the SMC developed the action plans of certain fields following a common method.

- mission identity in congregations
- alternative conceptions of RCH's structural reformation
- openness, transparency and greater trust
- Christian answers in the society
- background support for congregations and pastors
- child and youth mission service
- mission identity of institutions
- redesigned and renewed communication
